Gossip

Old-timers in the Cleveland bicycle racing community may remember former Cleveland Wheelman Greg Bragiel. We first met him at the wonderful BikeAmerica festival back in the early eighties (?). Greg was handing out cards to fellow bikies telling them to visit his dental office. We visited him at his North Royalton practice for nearly all of the years since. As the patient would lay back in the chair and stare at the ceiling, there was actually something other than acoustical tile to look at. Dr. Greg had thoughtfully decorated the ceiling with photographs from his many adventures motorcycle camping, hiking, mountain climbing (he has a lot of outdoor interests). In love with the Alaskan outdoors, Greg recently announced the sale of his practice and his move to Alaska where he will now work and play. Now we have to find a new dentist and that's like pulling teeth. You know the drill — filling the gap in your life left by the loss of a good dental practitioner extracts a good bit of effort. Gritting our teeth, brushing and flossing daily, we'll think of you, Greg, enjoying life in the beautiful Alaskan wilderness, then we'll gargle and spit. Congratulations, Dr. Greg, on making your dream come true, and best wishes for a happy future there!

For the most part, we would rather buy energy bars to use as emergency road patch kits (with the notable exception of Clif Bars). She Who Must Be Obeyed, however, likes sports beverages and energy/nutrition bars and recently saw the new product, Luna Bar, by the makers of Clif Bars. They're supposed to be nutritionally-balanced for the estrogen-enhanced (women). The sales fella at Century Cycles said that he tried Luna Bars and liked them. He said that since sampling them he was feeling more in touch with his sensitive side. So She bought a handfull of Luna to try. Luna's 170 calories, soy protein, 22 vitamins & minerals, calcium, and folic acid aside, She loves 'em. Says they're the best thing yet! Except for the Trail Mix which sucks. These things are a matter of personal preference, however; your results may vary. That's our product review for this month.

Lots of folks will remember Kevin Alten, formerly of the former North Olmsted bike shop North Coast Cyclery. Kevin's found a great day job with a major national retailer based in Cleveland but he still loves working on bicycles. So, he has created Kevin's Bicycle Specialties, a mobile bicycle repair service where he brings his shop to your house to repair/tune-up your ride. For more information and to schedule an appointment, call Kevin at (440) 323-3544. Just keep those greasy paws off the daily sales reports, Alten, yer smudgin' the ink!

Recently we heard about a cyclist being pulled over by a cop in North Olmsted. The bikie would have been cited, but the cop got called away on an emergency. Details are sketchy but the talk we heard seemed to indicate the officer was enforcing a little-known, rarely-enforced city ordinance. Could it be the one that prohibits cyclists from riding in the street if there's a sidewalk or path running along side? Or the one where, if you are riding in the street because there's no path, you have to walk your bike through every intersection? Is this still the law in N.O.? If it's on the books, a bad law can be enforced at any time. Know anything about that ordinance? Know about the incident in question? Is this the return of the Lake Erie Wheelers' "Dirty Harry?" Let us know: crank@crankmail.com. If you live in North Olmsted, you might want to check with your councilmember and see what can be done!

October

Day	OCT	Starting Point
Sunday	3	Amherst Powers
Sunday	10	Amherst Powers
Thursday	14	Nordson Depot - Meeting
Sunday	24	Oberlin Inn
Sunday	31	Oberlin Inn – Club Red Flannel
Sunday	11/7	Red Flannel – member work day

Tuesday night rides are still on at 6:00 PM from the Oberlin Inn. Thursday night rides will also start at 6:00 PM from the Oberlin Inn EXCEPT for meeting night (10/14). That one will depart the Depot at the usual 6:00 PM

The evening rides are really going to get short because of darkness. If you can ride during the day, give Frank or Clyde a call. Either of them are usually game.

I hope everyone has been having a good summer. Now that fall is upon us, the days will get shorter and a little cooler. The evening rides will continue as long as folks show up to ride and the light holds out.

I haven't been able to ride as much as I would have liked. Hot summers keep me pretty busy at work. I'm hoping to get out more now that fall has arrived.

Look for entry forms soon on the "guess Frank's mileage" game. Maybe we'll even have prizes!

See ya soon on the road ... ride safe. — Daryl

Tales from the Old World

“In August four of us went to Austria and Germany to bike along the Salzach and Danube Rivers. We took our bikes in bike boxes to the Munich airport and then trained and pedaled the rest of the way to Vienna. A photo journal of the trip can be seen at my web page at: <http://www.angelfire.com/oh3/parrybike>

“Flags stating ‘Radfahrer Willkommen’ (Bicyclists Welcome) were seen all over Austria as we pedaled our way from Krimml (a small town at the headwaters of the Salzach River) to Salzburg, then from Brannau along the Inn River to Passau where we then followed the Danube River to Vienna. These flags were flying in front of restaurants, hotels, bakeries and homes along the hundreds of miles of bike routes and bike paths. Austria is certainly a bike-friendly country that accommodated cyclists at every turn.

“We spent a little over two weeks traveling the 400 miles on sections of three bike routes and visited many picturesque towns that retained their old town squares and buildings from the 12th to the 17th century. After 30 to 40 miles of biking, pastries, coffee and beer we found numerous ‘bike hotels,’ Pensions or hostels to stay overnight. We also did a lot of sightseeing including Krimml Falls (a series of falls totaling 1,200 feet in height), salt mine at Hallein, the Hohensalzburg Fortress in Salzburg, The Dom in Passau (Germany) and a noontime concert on the world’s largest pipe organ, The beautiful baroque Abbey at Melk, St. Stephens Cathedral, Schonbrunn Palace and The National Treasury in Vienna.

“Biking observations along the way: Bikes are everywhere in Austria and they are given the right of way by pedestrians and motorists, all road and touring bikes in Austria had fenders and generator powered lights, bike racks were EVERYWHERE and sometimes there would be a couple hundred bikes parked in one area, everyone locked their bikes regardless of the condition of the bike, some cyclists besides us wore helmets, Lycra biking shorts and jerseys were not uncommon, nearly every train accommodated bikes in special cars where one just lifts the bike into the train, many towns still have cobblestone streets in the old sections that require 1.5" tires.”

—Bob Parry

“AWESOME!!”

That was the reaction of none other than Paul Martin after seeing Mike House's solo win in front of the thousands of rabid spectators lining Erie Street at the 41st annual Tour di Via Italia in Windsor, Ontario. Mike went clear with 4 laps (5 miles) to go in the 18 mile race, built a lead of 17 seconds, then held on to win both the 15-16 and 17-18 age categories.

Equally as impressive was Shan Rayray's showing at the Track Nationals in Trexlertown, PA, where she achieved either a personal record or best finish (or both) in each of the three events she contested.

Through September 7, 38 riders had taken part in 98 races (all events took place in Ohio unless noted):

- Special thanks to Doug Barr for the team portrait taken on August 17.
- Just as last year, working the Wendy's International Cycling Classic in Grandview Heights provided a memorable moment. As I was checking numbers and standing behind the field just before the start of the featured women's event with $10,000 on the line, Tania Duff-Miller (wife of Graham Miller) turned around and said "Oh, I didn't know you were back there, I've been passing wind all this time!"

She couldn't understand how we could have possibly scored her as being a lap down . . .

- After hearing team member Seth Hosmer's report of his moose sighting whilst riding in his native New Hampshire, I'll never complain about geese again . . .

Membership Keeps Growing

CTC welcomes these new members: William Allen of Parkman, Don Sedivy of Mentor, Patrick Ridley of South Euclid, Deborah Nelson of Beachwood and Edward Lesnefsky of Shaker Heights. We look forward to riding with you.

Adopt-an-Interchange Clean Up

Saturday, Nov. 6 9 AM at S.O.M Ctr Rd (Rt91) & Rt 422 interchange in Solon. Meet at Cookers restaurant parking lot near Bob Evans (south of interchange). Lunch afterwards on your own. Safety gear provided. Bring work gloves if you have. Call Lois Nicholson at (330) 668-3686.

Wanted: Owner of Large Pyrex Bowl

Way back in the summer at the club picnic someone brought a bowl full of the most delicious potato salad. We all devoured it. But no one claimed the bowl. Please call Andy Fedak (216) 531-8382 if it's yours. Oh, he'd like you to refill it with more potato salad.

One More Volunteer Needed

Scott Ergman has volunteered to take a turn keeping the CTC membership list. Thanks Scott! We still need someone(s) to take over the mail collecting responsibilities. This takes very little time: you pick up the club mail once every 2 weeks in the off-season and once a week in busy season. Memberships go to Scott and checks go to John Gallovic either by mail or at a ride. As a bonus, you get to see proprietary info about upcoming rides! These go to Nan Horvath for her bulletin board. We'll move the CTC post office box to a convenient location if need be. Please contact Lois Nicholson (330) 668-3686. And thanks.

Weekday Evening Rides Are Over

The weeknight rides are over for the season. Hope you all enjoyed them as a welcome break from the day's routine.

Cycle Vermont with Rick and Andy

Rick Porter of the CTC, along with Rick's college buddy, Neil Jordan from Philadelphia, PA, and myself, Andy Carpenter, trained all spring and summer on the hills of the Chagrin Valley and Geauga County (and the hills of eastern PA, in Neal's case) in order to get ready for the Green Mountains of Vermont. We attended the second annual Cycle Vermont tour sponsored by Adventure Cycling (formerly Bikecentennial of Missoula, Montana). It took place from August 22nd, through 27th. The fully supported camping tour began in Burlington and headed north toward Canada and then in a clockwise, rectangular route over the top half of the state. There were over 100 participants from throughout the U.S. and we rode 400 miles in the six days, with the average mileage of 67 miles. That wasn't extreme mileage, but the real kicker was the 21,500 feet of climbing. The Green Mountains act as an excellent challenge for roadies willing to take on some major climbs. We did the whole ride without the aid of a triple chainring, but did go with larger gearing on the rear. Thank goodness we did, since some of the climbs were so long and steep...that...we...ended...up...barely...able...to get the cranks to go around.

The support for the trip was exceptional. The food was gourmet, with tasty and healthy meals of fresh salads, pasta with chicken and herbs, tuna steaks and seafood patties and a raw bar one evening for an appetizer. Meals usually ended with homemade cookies and brownies and fresh fruit. We didn't gain any weight though, with all of the calories being burned off the next day. The weather cooperated every day, except for the first morning, with a steady drizzle, but that dissipated and we had sunshine and warm temperatures everyday, for fantastic riding. There was one small shower on the last night, that lasted about 45 minutes, and the most unfortunate thing was that it broke up a great party session sitting out under the stars and drinking a bit of the local microbrew. Rick, Neil and I found the hot setup was to get the sag wagon staff to transport local “beverages” from the small towns we passed through, back to the campsite for the evening festivities. It took a couple of days to get the logistics correct, but after that we were set.

The people that we met were just as wonderful as the riding. Great friendships and camaraderie were almost instantaneous and we traveled with an attorney from NYC, a soon-to-be Ph.D. in microbiology from Indiana and his spouse an E.R. nurse and two young women professionals from Toronto and a software engineer/consultant from San Francisco. We met other wonderful people from Florida, Washington D.C., Connecticut (a 69-year-old father of five with his 13-year-old daughter on a tandem – what a guy!). Only a few people withdrew from the ride, because of injury or fatigue (one collarbone and one elbow injury, both on the first day – what a disappointment). Out of the group, we never had one flat tire or mechanical failure, a testament to good planning and good bikes. Almost all of the riders were serious cyclists, ranging in ages from 13 to 75, with most of them in their 30s through 50s. The Adventure Cycling staff were very supportive and wonderful people, never hesitating to help, answer questions or make you feel at home on the road.

The last leg of the trip was a short day into Burlington, Vermont and we all took our time, savoring the last few miles of cycling freedom and friendship. We all felt stronger and faster after all of the training and the experience of cycling in such demanding terrain. I know that despite the long trip to and from Vermont (with Rick’s wonderful family – Katherine, his infinitely patient wife – and CTC member, and his boys, James and William) the trip was worth every penny and the endless hours of driving. Also note, that more old college friends of Rick’s put up with us for three days while in Middlebury, Vermont on the way to the start of the ride. Also I’d like to thank my lovely wife, Ruth for enduring me being away on our 24th wedding anniversary – how understanding can you get? After 24 years, she knows my cycling fanaticism well. After all that, dare I say “Perhaps we can go West next time — they do have a tour in Montana!” (just not in August).

A Mythology

A Timetable of Major Events in the History of the Bike Witch

The township of Bentleyville is located in Northeastern Ohio, an hour from Cleveland.

February 1785 Several children accuse Elly Putrid of luring them into her home to make them ride on wheels. Putrid is found guilty of witchcraft, banished from the village during a time when there were no pneumatic tires, and presumed dead.

November 1786 By midwinter all of Putrid's accusers, along with half of the town's children, are afflicted with saddle sores. Fearing a curse, the townspeople flee the village of Bieke and vow never to utter that Putrid name again. The name came to mean "rotted."

August 1825 Eleven witnesses testify to seeing a pale woman's hand reach up and pull 10-year-old Eileen Tapwater into the Chagrin River as she rolled hoops along the bank. Her body, and the barrel hoops, are never recovered. For 13 days after the disappearance the river is clogged with oily bunches of sticks.

March 1886 Eight-year-old Readem N. Weap is reported missing and search parties are dispatched. Weaper returns, crying, one of the search parties does not. They are found weeks later at Squaw Rock mysteriously intoxicated, laughing, and unaware of the community's concern. They said, "we thought you wanted us to search for a party. We found one!" Their ghostly hostess, however, had disappeared, some say into the rocks or the nearby river.

October 1994 John Carroll University students arrive in Bentleyville to test mountain bike frame designs they built in shop class. They speak with locals about the legend of the "Bike Witch" which was their first mistake. One local claims to have seen the witch one day near Squaw Rock, in the form of a hairy half-human beast. The students think it's a Browns fan and are only mildly concerned.

October 21, 1994 In the early morning the students talk with two hikers who tell the cyclists that Squaw Rock is less than 20 minutes from Chagrin Falls and easily accessible by the Metroparks' Sulphur Springs Road. The framebuilders ride down Sulfur Springs and are never seen again.

October 25, 1994 After an extensive search, the only trace of the riders that could be found was a four-day-old banana peel. And a crude representation of a bicycle found on the banks of the Chagrin River ... made of sticks and two barrel hoops.

Summer 1999 A great deal of money is made on a totally-fictitious movie. Coincidence? We don't think so!

Big Creek Watershed Bike Tour Announced

Cleveland — The Cuyahoga River Remedial Action Plan (RAP) and Century Cycles are hosting a educational bike tour of the Big Creek watershed on Sunday, October 17. The moderately-paced 20-mile tour begins at the Metroparks Brookside Reservation Upland Meadow entrance off Fulton Road at 9:00 a.m. and ends at the same location at approximately 12:30 p.m. Riders will traverse a large area of the Big Creek watershed, visit interesting creekside locations, learn about Big Creek's historical contributions to the area's development and how development has impacted the creek's water quality. Preregistration is recommended. The first 100 registrants will receive a water bottle, courtesy of Century Cycles. Preregistration is $5.00 per person; $8.00 on the day of the tour. Helmet and water bottles are required and a spare tire is recommended. A limited number of helmets will be available for sale at registration. More details and registration are available by calling (216)241-2414 ext. 290.

Big Creek is the fourth largest tributary to the Cuyahoga River. This urban stream, part of which has been long hidden from view, has many historic sites and special places along its course, including Walter's Grove, hidden valley, wetlands, lakes and Stearn's Farm. The tour, led by Jim Sheehan of Century Cycles and local historian Laura McShane, will make a gradual ascent to the creek's headwaters and then follow the creek downhill to Brookside Reservation. Participants will experience the watershed in a manner similar to that of the area's earliest settlers. At places like Stearn's Farm and Walter's Grove, riders will learn about the history of the seven Big Creek communities, their first residents, and the area's once bountiful natural resources.

The Cuyahoga River is one of the 42 seriously impaired areas around the Great Lakes that has been identified as an Area of Concern. A Remedial Action Plan (RAP) is being developed for the Cuyahoga Area of Concern to help address the persistent pollution problems, which include poor water quality, high bacteria levels and degraded wildlife habitat. The RAP's goal is to create a plan of action to help alleviate these problems. Programs such as the Big Creek Stream Stewardship Project are aimed at identify pollution sources, educating the public and working with residents to enhance the environmental quality of the stream in their own backyards for the benefit of the Cuyahoga River and Lake Erie.

Dayton Cycling History being Stolen

DAYTON — In June someone broke into the Wright Brothers Museum at 22 S. Williams St. and took an historical bicycle that was on display. The bike was described as an original from the turn of the century, a Van Cleve model built by the Wrights themselves. It has a black frame, wooden handlebars, a tan saddle, and orange gum rubber tires. It is an extremely valuable piece of history for Dayton and for the American cycling community.

The museum has been broken into two times since the June incident. A safe was stolen during one of the break-ins.

Dayton police would like to stop these criminals who are not only stealing the Dayton community's past, but robbing future generations of a chance to view the handiwork of two of the nation's most revered inventors. — from the Dayton Cycling Club's Spoke 'N' Link.

The Prez Says...

!!! CONGRATULATIONS !!! to Doug Fitz , Cindy Steeb,C. J. Urbancic ,Clarie Fahler, and Ian Halliwell on completing their first ever 100 mile ride, the (HHH) Hancock Horizontal Hundred or as some would say "my Hinny Hurts Horrendously." They were joined by Lou Vetter,Tom Waterson, Tim Misner, Jenie, Carl Bidinger, Bob Doyle, Bryan Craft, Glen Hinegardner, and myself. The morning started off perfect, clear and cool with a slight breeze. But the last 25 miles had a strong left shoulder head wind that made it difficult to draft, and the 90-degree temperature made the last miles VERY challenging.

Welcome two new riders to our club this month: Sue Whittaker, who joined us on our RR track ride to LaGrange, and Ian Halliwell who has ridden with us many times since.

Thanks to Sarah Bates for her article in the August 26 , Medina Gazette Sports section. For those of you who missed it, Sarah chronicled her adventures when joining us on several of our rides this summer. Together with the pictures she explained what we, as a club, are all about.

The new jerseys came in a couple days before the Hancock and went right back. For some reason the colors were way off .The company agreed to take them back and send us new ones that match our original. Dave tells me they will put a rush on this order so we should get them about the middle of October. Hopefully!!! EVERYONE!!! will have one for the FFF.

DON'T FORGET the 23rd FRIENDSVILLE FREEBIE FIFTY( FALL FOLIAGE & FROSTBITE FROLIC ) ON SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30. 10:00 AM Medina City Square. The name almost says it all .Yes it's an absolutely free ride of 50/25 miles that includes a map , cider and cookies with our own extremely scary "COUNT DRACULOU." Trick or Treat ??? For more info contact Richard DeLombard; 805 Seneca Ave; Huron,OH 44839 (419) 433-8353. Email pogo@lrbeg.com

Thanks also to Carl Bidinger for one of our more scenic and enjoyable Sunday club rides this year. Carl lead about 15 of us on his favorite route to Canal Fulton and back. Carl had maps for everyone, a convenient place for breakfast researched out, and even some history of the area. With some help I think we can talk him into making this ride an annual event.

As the days get shorter, fewer people are showing up for the Tuesday night rides from the square. You might want to call or check your email before you go.

A Letter from Vetter...

RR TRACKS TREK: This was a Sunday morning ride Tom Waterson organized ride to LaGrange for breakfast. We rode over the tracks on Route 18 west then north on Marks Road we crossed two more sets of tracks. Later as we headed west along Route 303 we altered course to get off of the highway and headed north toward Grafton. We rode right into town remembered the railroad tracks and avoided them by going south to Route N of the Bikecentennial trail. Soon we crossed over some ConRail tracks then a turn to the left and over the same tracks again. Another turn to the right and the same tracks were there again. Just one more left turn over those tracks for good measure and we found our way to Route 303 and then on to LaGrange. Breakfast was good including the Pumpkin Pancakes that someone was brave enough to order. After eating we saddled up and rode home riding at a more conservative pace. We laughed as we encountered more tracks on Smith Road. We lost count of all the railroad tracks we crossed thus the name of this unusual breakfast ride.

ABC RIDE TAKEN OVER BY MCBC: This was to be a Saturday Morning ride for the Akron Bicycle Club. There were five riders who started out from Sharon Center Elementary School. All five of us were members of the Medina County Bicycle Club. The weather was great and the company was wonderful as well. Why not? We were all from Medina. We rode to Hamilton Road then proceeded West towards Litchfield for breakfast. Near Abbyville we found ourselves merged in with the MS150 riders. For a couple of miles we encouraged some neophyte riders and helped them with group riding techniques. Then we split off and rode to breakfast.

HANCOCK HORIZONTAL HUNDRED: Club Members Tom W. and Lou, Cyndi and C.J., Doug and Tom D., Tim and Jeanie all attended this flat 100-miler. Congrats to Cindi and Doug for completing there first century ride ( 100 miles ). HHH as it is called has long been a favorite ride for cyclists to test their endurance and complete a century. The weather started out wonderful after some confusion over breakfast arrangements. Two riders had no breakfast while two others went to another restaurant. The final four ate together but service was slow and our start was 30 minutes behind the mass start and our teammates. We had two tandems leave with the mass start and the other four singles 30 minutes later on road bikes. Tom, Tom, Doug and Lou were soon passing slower riders and using our railroad whistles to warn them of our passings. After getting warmed up the ride progressed quickly to the first rest stop where we heard that our two tandems were way ahead of us. At this point the wind started kicking up as a tailwind making the 21 miles to lunch go quick. There we saw Tim and Jeanie and Cindi and C.J. coming out as we went in to eat. Tom and I were thinking we would eat fast and catch the tandems. We rode fast and tired at the 65-mile mark and stopped for water and Gatorade. While we rested Doug and Tom D. passed us by. Tom and I started out again turning into the wind at the 70-mile mark. By this time the wind had strengthened and was in our faces.

We met up with Tom D. and Doug at the p.m. rest stop but the tandems had left long before. Tom and I started out again and joined a pace line as it passed us. The wind was strong and we worked hard trying not to get left behind. There were two tandems, not our members, leading the way. One tandem dropped out then the other. Another pace line came along and we joined it to make a group of seven riders. One unknown rider was breaking the wind while rider after rider dropped off the back of the line. Soon I was dropping off the back and the paceline, now only two riders, continued on to the finish. I finished shortly after 3:00 p.m. having ridden 100 miles in 5 hr. 53 min., averaging 16.9 mph. Later Tom W. informed me that temperatures reached 90 degrees during the ride. That explains why we drank about eight water bottles full. I got to say hi to Tim and Jeanie and Cindi and C.J. at the finish. This ride is very, very flat. The only two hills were man made ramps that lead to bridges over the interstate. The headwinds accompanied by high temperatures in the last 30 miles made the ride seem more difficult than it really was. I enjoyed myself on this one again and I recommend it to all our cycling friends who want the satisfaction of getting that first "century" under their belt. This was my training ride for Columbus Fall Challenge.

Yo, Wheelers...

At a recent informal meeting of the members of the Western Reserve Wheelers, Broadway Bagels of Solon was elected as the official rest stop. It has not been determined whether this designation carries with it an automatic discount!! Maybe they will install a bike rack.

Member David Bortz and his wife are to be commended for the splendid job they did in hosting the annual summer brunch. We had an excellent turnout. Dave again made his original quiche in regular, spicy, and vegan varieties. There was something for everyone. Long-term members will recall that this started as the annual beer ride with several cases of beer and a large package of pretzels. The concept then mushroomed when a host added cheese cubes to the beer and pretzels. With ongoing member support, we hope to continue these little get-togethers in the future.

Western Reserve Wheelers are looking into the possibility of getting new club jerseys this year. Our urgent need is for an artist who can create some interesting designs. Naturally, we will get high-visibility colors. Anyone interested in volunteering either themselves or a spouse or significant other to work on this project, call Al or Ed.

Ellie Einhorn was back in town last Sunday to ride with us. Unfortunately, she has to leave soon and it may be some time until we see her out again.

Congratulations to Leonard Bernstein and Bernard Greenberg on completing the annual MS ride. We hope to hear they were both outstanding fund raisers.

Watch your mail for an announcement of the annual dinner to be held at Nido Italia on Sunday, November 7, 1999. This has always been an outstanding evening and we hope to see a large turnout.

RIDE SCHEDULE

(All rides start at 8:30 a.m.)

You will notice that this schedule is "Cleveland Browns Friendly" . . . the rides will get you back in time to see the games.

- 10/3 Valley City to Oberlin - a 45 mile flat ride starting at the Valley City Depot, on Rt. 303 just west of Columbia Road.
- 10/10 Lakewood Park to Euclid - 40 mile flat ride starting at Lakewood Park on Lake Road at Belle.
- 10/17 Olmsted Falls to Medina - 40 mile rolling ride starting at the Mill River Plaza at the corner of Columbia and Bagley.
- 10/24 The Kent Ride - Our signature 35 mile rolling to hilly ride to Kent, starting at the Virginia Kendall lake Park in the Cuyahoga Valley. Fall colors should be excellent in the valley and along the route.
- 10/31 The Third Annual Tour Macabre - a 50-mile flat to rolling ride which passes 13 cemeteries, starting at the Mill River Plaza at the corner of Columbia and Bagley Roads in Olmsted Falls. A fun, free ride – join us!
- 11/7 The Red Flannel - look for details in this issue of CrankMail or at crankmail.com (among the Lorain Wheelmen Web pages).

As another season of fine rides draws to a close, we want to encourage members to get out and pedal — enjoy the beautiful fall weather! Sunday rides feature a mapped route and a ride leader and can be a shortish, easy-riding day or a sprint, for the relaxation-impaired. Of particular interest this time of year is the Tour Macabre. It's route carries us past 13 cemeteries which can be educational, spooky, or macabre (whatever your attitude) but also a lot of fun. The last club-hosted Sunday ride of the season.

On November 7, we'll end our riding season with Northeastern Ohio's traditional season-closer, The Red Flannel. It's a well-run invitational we've enjoyed for many years and encountered all manner of weather and riders. From warm and sunny to cold and snowy, Red Flannel has it all — even a guy riding in his red flannel longjohns once or twice! Hope to see you there (longjohns optional).
